Scottsdale, Arizona police charged 25-year-old Selma Gonzalez with an attempt to harm a police horse. Authorities say Gonzalez slapped the rear of the horse outside a nightclub. Police say the smack was loud enough to be heard by the crowd coming out of the nightclub. The horse could have reacted badly, for example started running through the crowd. Selma Gonzalez told police she was only petting the horse. But there were several witnesses from the nightclub who said the blow was very hard indeed.

A man had finally found the perfect girlfriend, that is, a young lady who liked his pet frog as much as he did. Well, last week, Croak, the frog, was sitting on the table while she was playing with her engagement ring. She dropped it and it fell towards where the frog was sitting. Quick as a flash it swallowed the ring. They took the frog to an animal doctor who was able to remove the ring without hurting the frog.

A burglar was arrested after he was caught baking bread at a restaurant he broke into. Most thieves are usually in a hurry to get in and out as quickly as possible, but not Stephen Quinn who was busy making bread in the kitchen. Before the bread was ready, the police arrived and captured him. The 41-year-old man told police he was missing the bread his mother made when he was a child. Well, don't we all!
